

A TRULY REWARDING EXPERIENCE!

I have recently viewed your publication and found it to be extremely interesting and the internet version very user friendly. The magazine is exceedingly informative, not just to the sports enthusiast, but also in a very practical manner to the up-and-coming athlete.

I am yet to see your indoor sports facility, but I have heard that it is an impressively designed and well managed addition to The University of the West Indies. The photographs within SPED definitely paint a beautiful picture!

Additionally, the encouragement and incorporation of staff input into your articles is also to be commended, since most other tertiary level publications, on the one hand, tend to feature merely the “face” of its institution, and, on the other, to seek outside professional perspectives. With SPED, we the readers, note the contributions from those who actually live, work and breathe SPEC and it seems clear to us that that must be a truly rewarding experience!

Once again, congratulations on what must be a very successful venture. I look forward to the next issue!

IMPORTANT TO ANYONE INVOLVED IN SPORT

Please consider this a brief applause for the outstanding job your team has done with the publication of this magazine. I received my first issue of SPED last year. After lending it to several family members, I always ensured it was returned to me.

The articles were very informative, and made the magazine worth keeping as a reference in my home. I am a swimmer, and am encouraging my friends and family members to take up swimming. The article on Lee-Anne Lingo is one I am keeping for my daughter, to encourage her to match her academic interests with sports.

The page eight (8) article on stretching is important to anyone involved in sport, and was professionally written.

Again my compliments to your team, and please “don’t forget my copy”.
